5TH PEDIATRIC FEEDING CONFERENCE

January 19-21, 2017 - Phoenix, AZ
ABOUT FEEDING MATTERS

Feeding Matters plays a vital role in the efforts to overcome pediatric feeding struggles. The biennial conference has grown exponentially in the past years, propelling Feeding Matters forward as the forerunner in providing education for the evaluation and treatment of children suffering from this complex issue.

“There was great value in the collaboration of all the professionals. Having a large group of leaders in the field is an amazing resource!”

- 2015 Conference Attendee

ABOUT THE PEDIATRIC FEEDING CONFERENCE

The Pediatric Feeding Conference was created to provide much-needed education to healthcare professionals who treat children struggling to eat, as well as the families who care for them. The 5th Pediatric Feeding Conference will include 13 sessions with internationally renowned speakers. New this year, the 2017 conference will feature a poster session focusing on the latest in feeding trends and research.

Common conference attendees include allergists, behavior analysts, dietitians, gastroenterologists, neonatologists, nurses, occupational therapists, parents and caregivers, pediatricians, pulmonologists, psychologists, speech and language pathologists, and students. In 2015 alone, attendees were represented from across the United States and nine foreign countries.

EVENT PLAN

Thursday, January 19: Welcome Reception
Friday, January 20: Full-day conference with an evening cocktail reception and poster session
Saturday, January 21: Half-day conference
