On-Demand Viewing March 1 - April 30, 2025

Each recorded session has been registered with AOTA for up to 16 CEUs. Attendees will receive credit for each session attended on-demand. Each session can only be counted for credit one time, either for the live event or on-demand.

*You can earn up to 22 credit hours for attending both in person and on demand.

How to submit AOTA CEUs

Feeding Matters will provide a certificate of completion to each participant via email. It is the responsibility of the practitioner to document and upload continuing education with AOTA through their AOTA Learn account.

In order to be eligible for AOTA CEUs you must:

- Attend the sessions in full as they are offered between February 21 and April 30, 2025. Attendance at the Feeding Matters IPFDC is available for partial credit. You may attend all or some of the sessions. However, you will only receive credit for the sessions you attend.
- Attendees must be present for each entire session to be eligible to apply for AOTA CEUs, and should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the sessions. Starting to watch a session too late while it's live or stopping early will not meet completion requirements. Our streaming partner VFairs will track each attendees session participation time.
- Complete the post-session survey for each individual session attended and the overall event survey no later than March 14th, 2025 and/or the closing date of the on-demand sessions (April 30, 2025) by 5:00pm EST.
